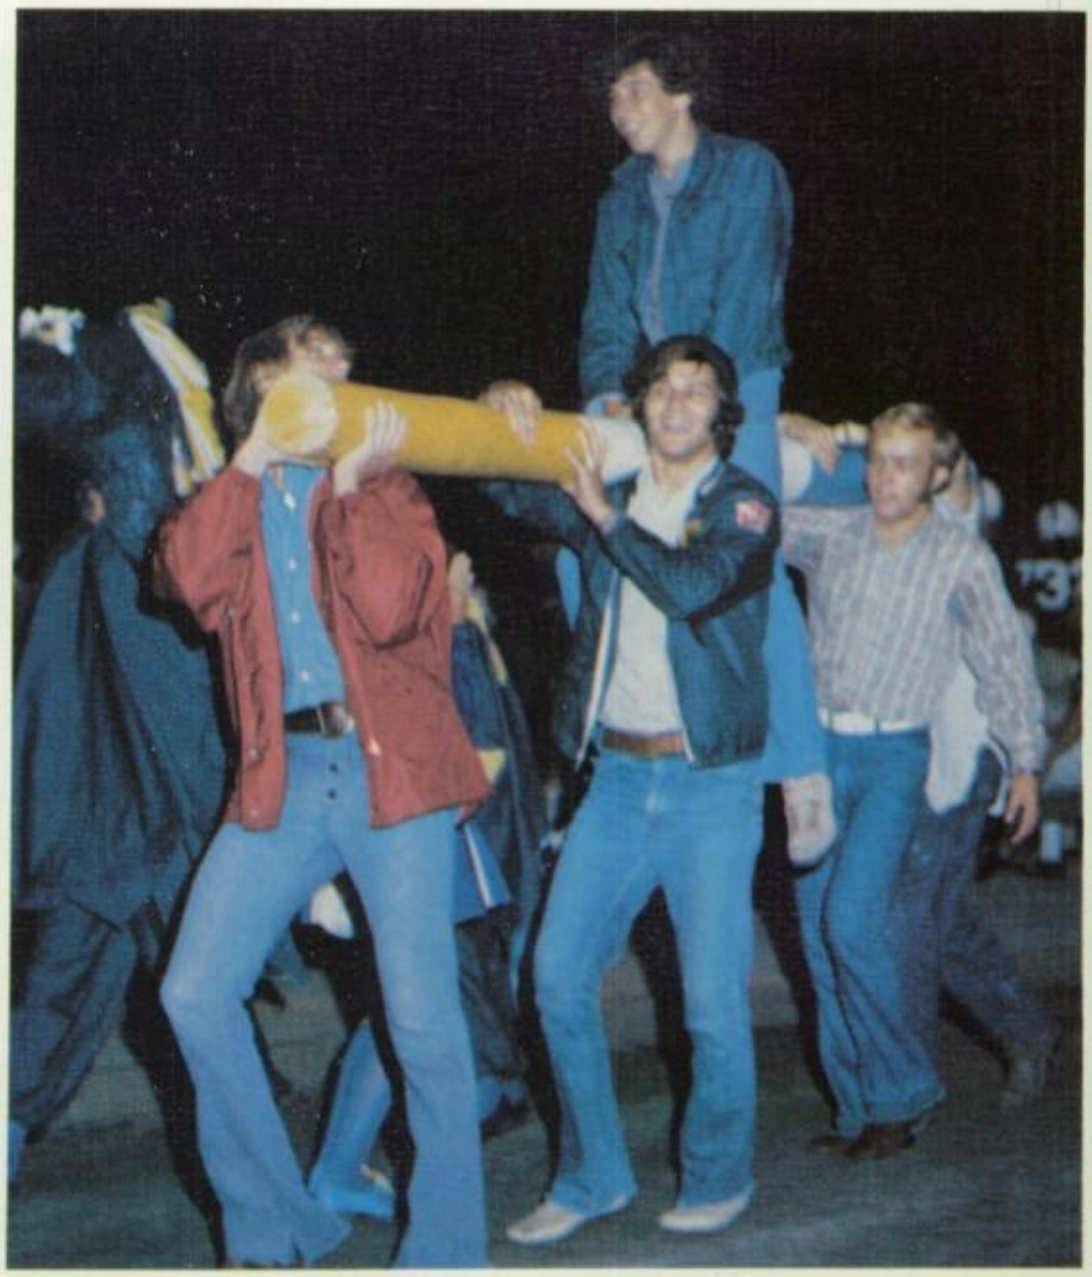
Volume XIV



foreword

In the beginning there was an emotion, but it was not revealed.
It grew and expanded within us, until it could no longer be contained.
We expressed it.

youth festival

Elected Teen Representative for the Youth Festival this year was Tina Clark. She represented C.C. in a fashion show at the Harrisburg East Mall and at the Festival. For the first time, dress was informal for the Festival held at the Zembo Mosque on November 24, 1972. The groups that played were 5¢ Bag, The Legends, Big City Music Band, and Tom Darlington and his Orchestra. The proceeds from the festival, a total of $3,-540, went to the Hershey Medical Center to purchase a centrifuge for hemophiliacs.

homecoming

Dawn Jenkins reigned as Cedar Cliff's 1972 Homecoming Queen. She was crowned by Mr. Edwards, during halftime of a stunning 49-16 victory over Carlisle, when members of the Homecoming Court were presented.

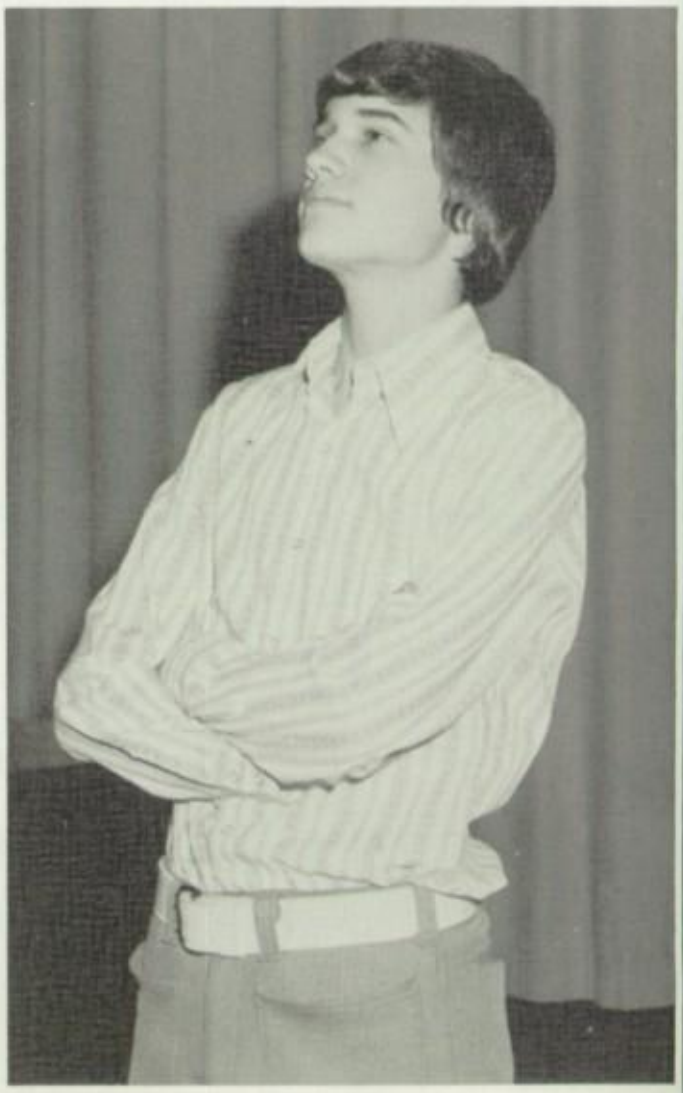
In addition to the game and its festivities, the traditional Homecoming Dance was sponsored by Student Council. This was held in the cafeteria with music by the Frank DiNunzio Orchestra. Traditional yellow mums set the mood for an evening of romance capped by the re-crowning of the queen by Dave Cox, student council v.p.

the crucible

Dave Cox, Steve Smith, Lisa Vogel, and Bev Crockett had the major roles in this year's senior class play, "The Crucible." It was presented on Thursday, December seventh, and Friday, December eighth. The play, written by Arthur Miller, took place in the early eighteenth century in Salem, Massachusetts, and dealt with witches and the mysterious powers they had over the people in a small town. Directed by Mrs. Juditz and student director Marcia Horting, the cast and crew put on a memorable performance.

white christmas

Nancy Sideris was crowned Queen of Cedar Cliff's White Christmas Formal at the West Shore Country Club on December 27th. Her court consisted of Claire Richards, Lisa Vogel, Lori Taylor, Kim Kinter, and Karen Tatnall. The Karltons played selections ranging from rock-and-roll hits to traditional ballroom tunes. The White Christmas Formal was the school's last social event of 1972, and one of the most successful with its record-high attendance.

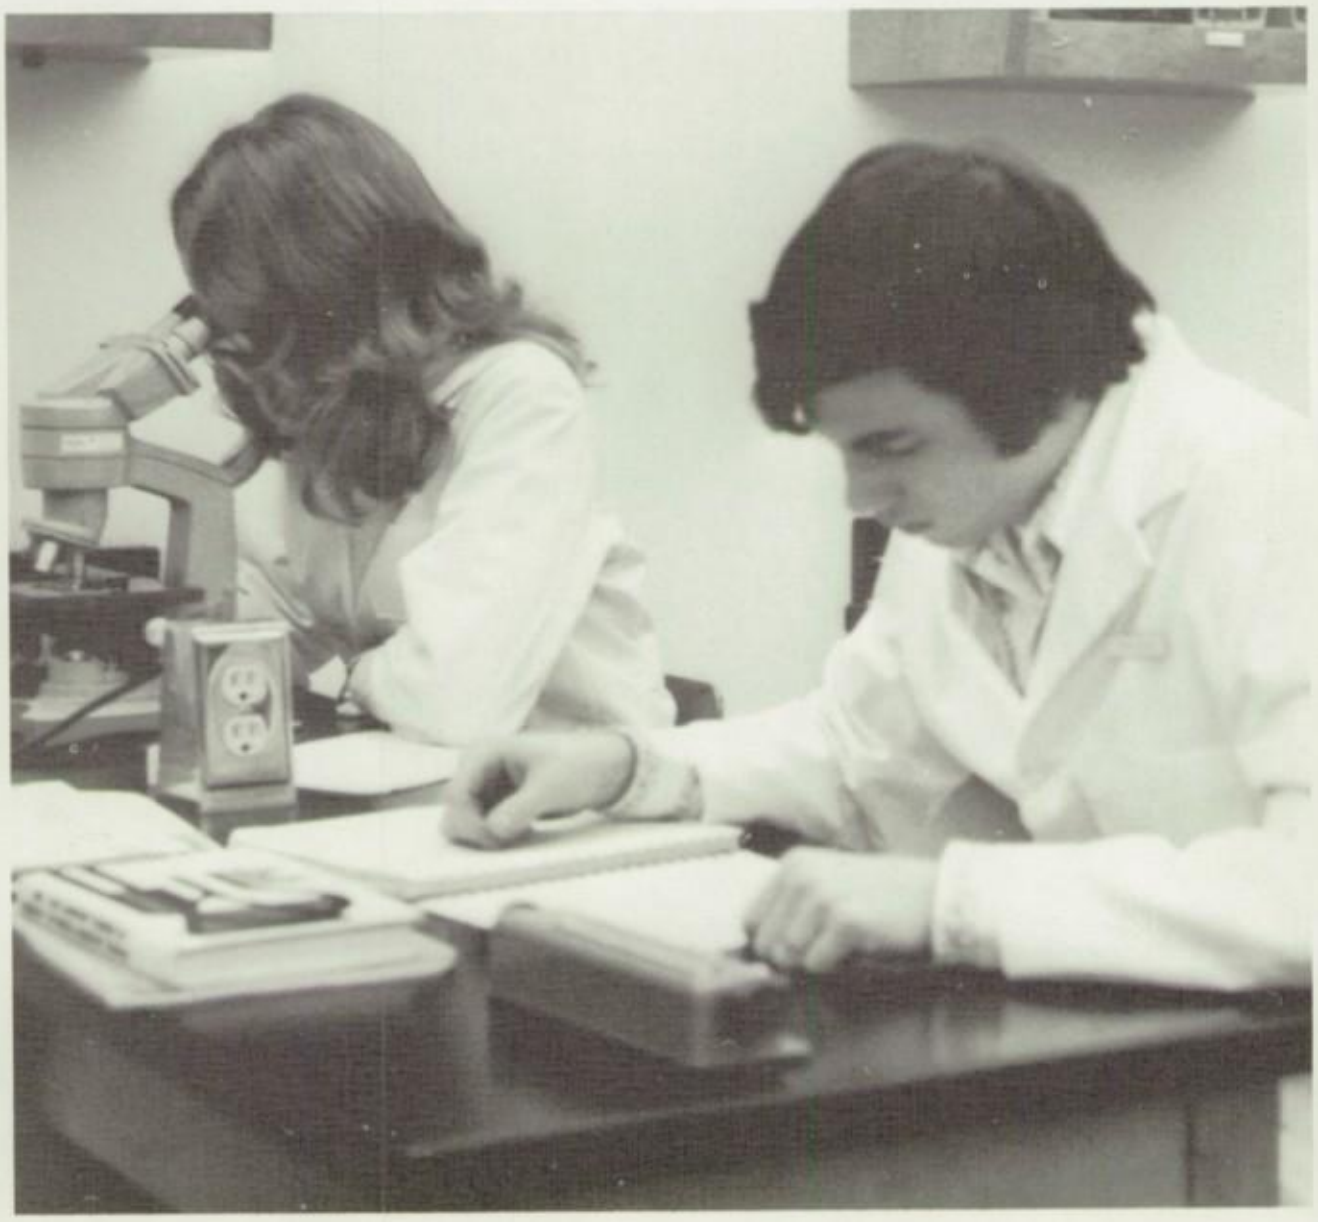


the golden fleecing

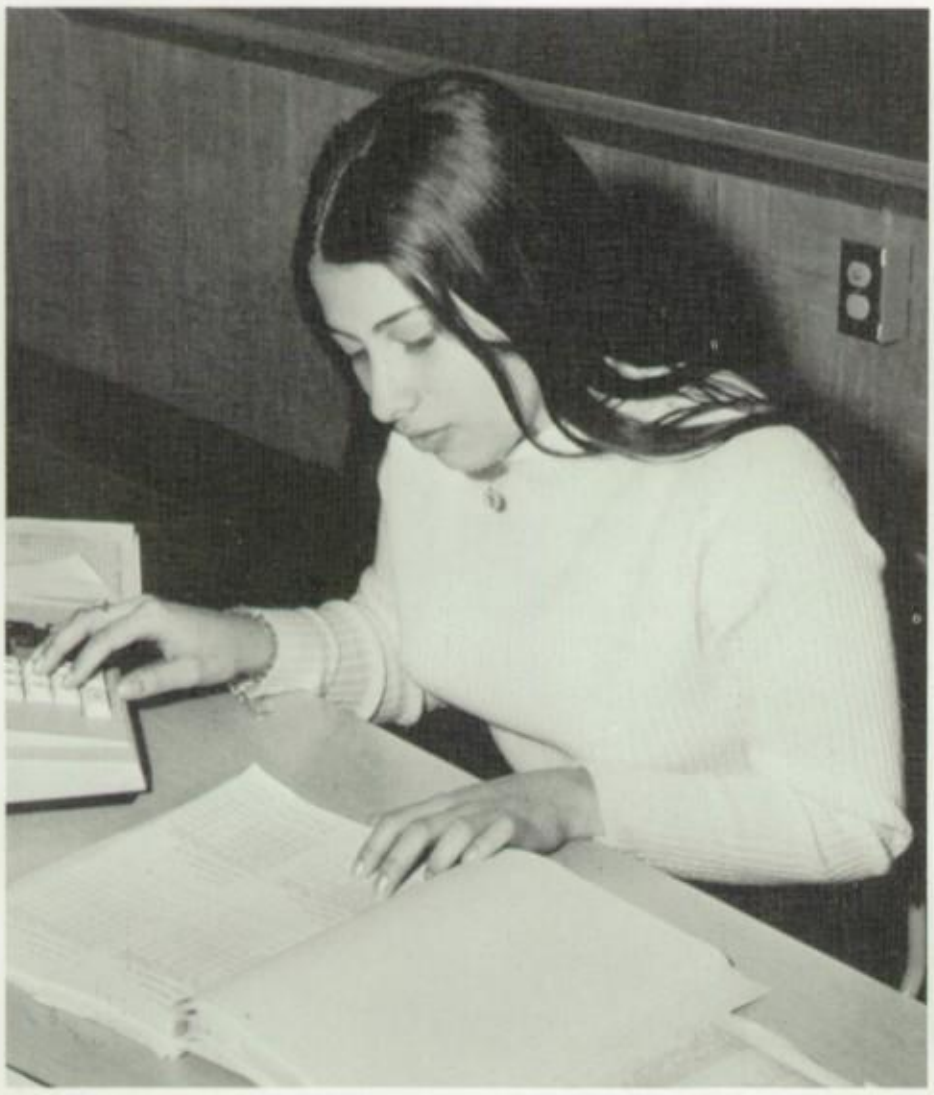
On the evenings of March 1 and 2, the stage was lit for the junior class play, The Golden Fleecing. Making his debut as a director at Cedar Cliff was Mr. Steve Spiese, assisted by student director Jenny Little. The play was a comedy about how two naval officers attempt to make a killing at a roulette table in Venice using their ship's computer. Leads Jeff Williams, Greg Hitchin, Dave Long, and Brenda Smith were supported by Becky Nestor, Mike Grabauskas, John Leverentz, Tom Long, Don Shoemaker, Vernon Asper, Doug Allan, and Jim Duke.

vo-tech

In each year of its existence the Cumberland-Perry Area Vocational - Technical School attracts more Cedar Cliff students to its enrollment. This year 123 students attended courses in 26 various skills, ranging from such subjects as Distributive Education to Civil Technology. By majoring in one of these fields, students gain a technical background in their specific trade. They also spend half the day at Cedar Cliff, taking courses required for graduation. A broad general education and additional vocational training prepare the student for a specific career.



foreign exchange students



This year's foreign exchange program at Cedar Cliff was a double delight. Staying with the Koehler family was Viola Gerdes, from Germany. The other exchange student was Olga Gonzalez, from Guatemala, who lived with the Fletcher family. Both of these girls acclimated themselves very well to the American way of life and were involved in many of the school's activities. Not only have Vi and Olga benefited from this worthwhile program, but all who came into contact with them will have fond memories that go beyond national boundaries.

the boor

This year's competition play was The Boor, a farce by Chekhov. It was presented at Cedar Cliff on Saturday, January 27, and starred Nancy Kraft, Dave Cox, and Brian Stoppe. The play competed with six others in the District Six Drama Festival, hosted this year by Cedar Cliff. Mrs. Juditz was faculty producer and director, while Helene Christopher served as student director, and John Uehlein was musician. The play was performed in various other competitions, including the Arts Festival at H.A.C.C. in May.

evaluation

Thorough planning and preparation by both administration and staff, with Mrs. Kirkpatrick serving as chairman, Cedar Cliff completed a difficult and timely self-evaluation. A visiting committee, selected by the Commission on Secondary Schools, spent three days examining Cedar Cliff's self-evaluation in terms of its philosophy and objectives and according to the extent to which the school meets needs of students and the community. From observations made, the committee expressed twelve specific commendations and three recommendations. Evaluations are conducted every ten years by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

COLTS
The Gre

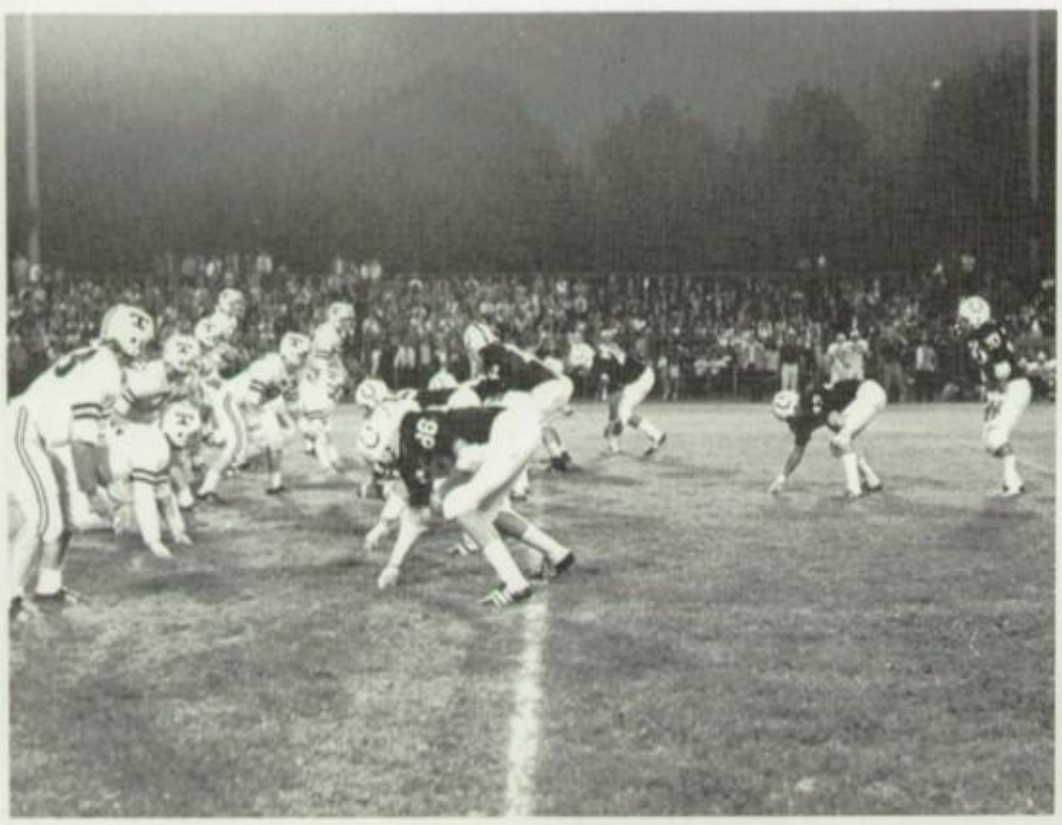
colts' undefeated streak extended to 27; snapped



The Colts showed their dominance as a state power with a 9 - 1 record as the airmen and ground crew thrilled the fans with record breaking offense and a stone wall defense. Cedar Cliff kept its undefeated streak going with twenty-seven straight victories without a defeat, until the final, unforgettable game of the season when the Colts were corralled by Delone in a nightmarish game. The season was highlighted with eight Big 33 performances by tri-captains Marc Torquato, Keith Polito, Jeff Reidinger; also Greg Shope, Mike Dean, Ron Candioto, Jerre McCann, and Bob Nelson.

Captained by Candy Geise and Judy Perdew, the Varsity captured the Lower Susquehanna League title for the second consecutive year. This qualified them to compete in the first annual District III play-offs.

The Varsity and Junior Varsity began summer practice this year without their coach, Miss Straw, as she was vacationing in Munich at the Olympics.

An outstanding Junior Varsity team posted an impressive 11 - 0 - 1 record, the best junior varsity hockey season Cedar Cliff has ever had.

The start and finish of the regular season were the highpoints of the year wh the cagers won the Christmas Tournament at Cumberland Valley and clinch the co-championship of the South Central League by defeating Delone and Tri ty. As the season progressed, the cagers played great at home and mediocre different courts. Rick Lange did most of the damage to other teams with his p point shooting. On defense, Sam Feehrer, Keith Polito, Mark Johnson, and T Sharretts worked to make the Colts one of the best run and shoot teams in league.

pam taylor . . . big 10

With four returning letterwinners, Miss Straw's varsity basketball team bettered last year's record. The season was highlighted by junior Nancy Carlson's strong rebounding, junior Pam Taylor's quick ball-handling, and senior Laurel Smith's precision shooting.

Laurel and Pam received Big 10 honors in its first year of existence. Laurel was the highest scorer C.C. has had since Judy Tritt in 1966. She accumulated 214 points this season, four off from the mark set by Judy. The team finished the season by playing in the first annual District III playoffs and setting a new season scoring record of 543 points.

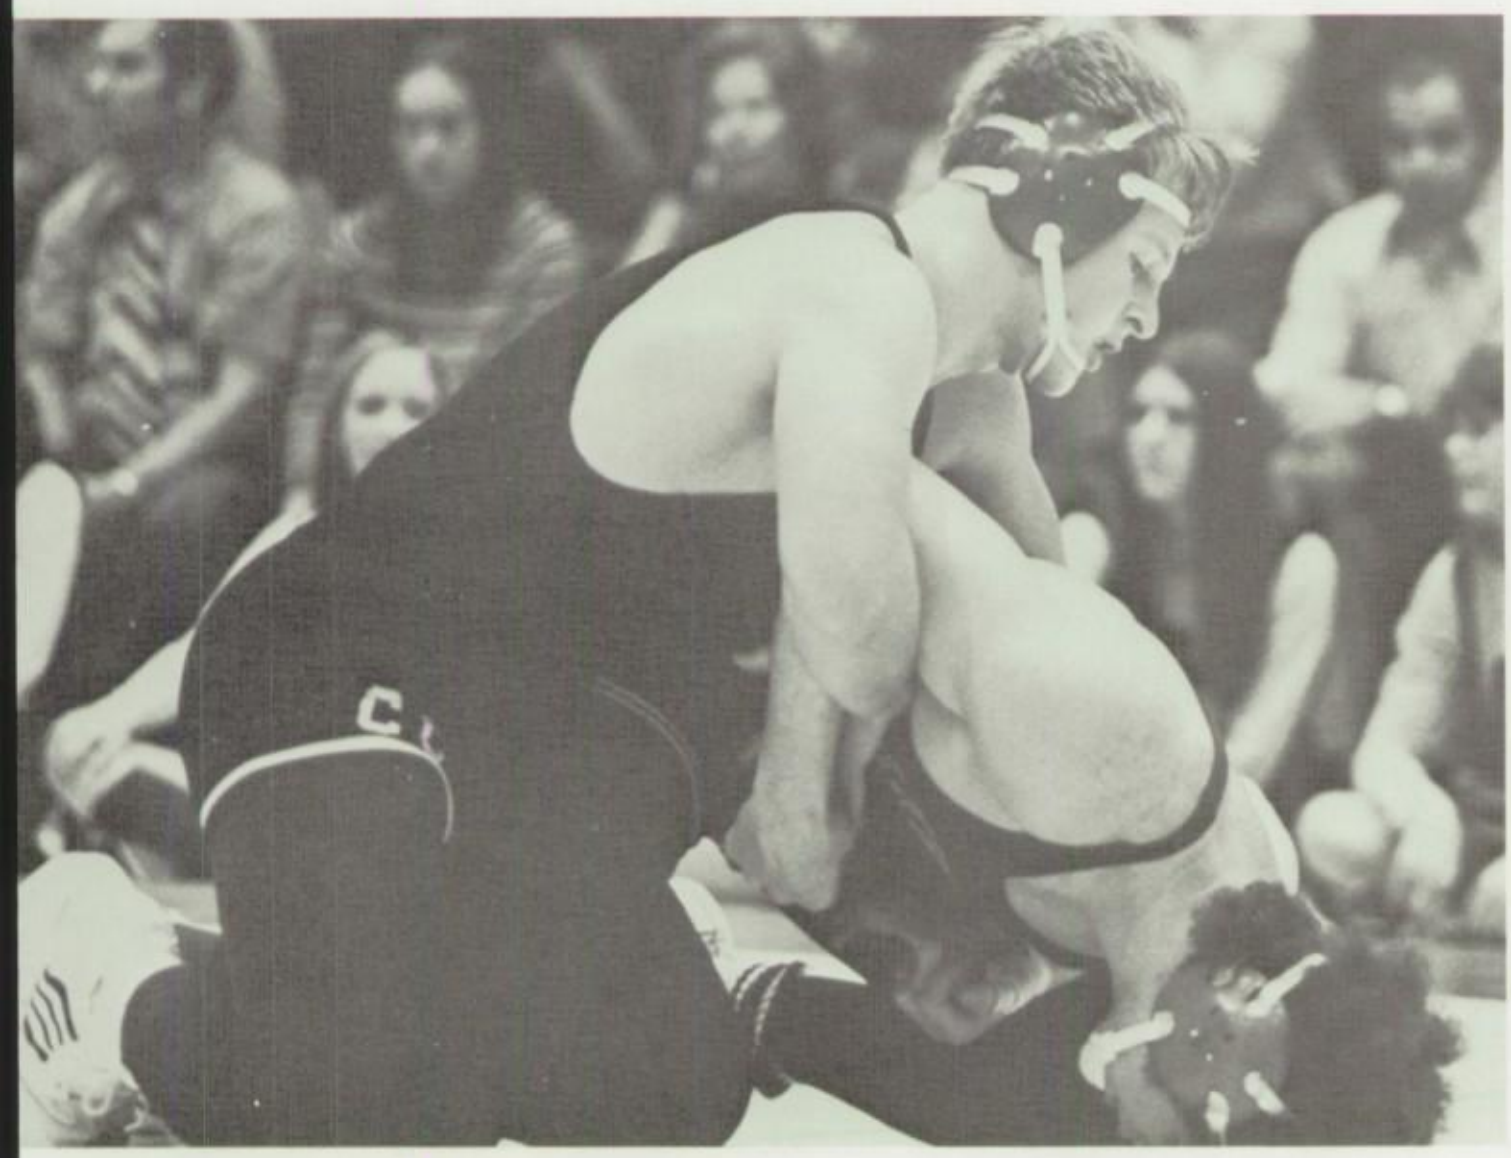
c.c. wrestlers . . .
13th straight winning season



After 73 straight league victories, the Colts turned independent and compiled a 10-3 log. Under the leadership of Coach Craig and Coach Paxton, the wrestlers fought through one of the toughest schedules in the state.

The grapplers started slowly, wrestling powerhouses Dallastown, Lower Dauphin, and Cumberland Valley, losing by very narrow margins. Memorable performances by Mark Piccolo, Jeff Reidinger, Don Houchins, and Tom Hocker helped the Colts to end the year with five straight victories.

impressions

Students wishing to have their literary and art work published had a chance to do so, through Impressions magazine. The semi-annual publication was headed by Mrs. Kurzen Knabe and student editor Helene Christopher. Students on Impressions Staff spent their club periods selecting and editing contributions, plus advertising and selling the magazine. After the lay-out and typing were completed, it was sent to Cedar Cliff's own print shop for publication. As a result of all the tedious work, Impressions was appreciated both by those who contributed and those who bought.

cliff sentinel

Under the illustrious leadership of their "Chief," the 1972-73 Cliff Sentinel staff was comprised of twelve aspiring journalists. This diabolical dozen strived year-round to bring limelight happenings to the attention of the populace of the school. With printer's ink coursing through their veins, the staff struggled amid the obstacles of all-too-soon deadlines and last minute news flashes to bring the paper to press. For members of the Sentinel staff, blessed was the day when the finished paper was distributed to the students.

Student Council, headed by President Cinde Wert and Vice President Dave Cox, attempted to improve communication with the administration, and to serve the student body. Some of the outstanding accomplishments this year were Greaser Day, clothes collection for Appalachia, meetings with Dr. Hench, and attendance at all School Board meetings. Other points the Council was striving for were exam exemptions for underclassmen and assemblies geared towards student interest. Council also sponsored Homecoming and the White Christmas Formal.

youth forum

Pollution and Rehabilitation of Prisoners were the topics for discussion this year by Youth Forum. Youth Forum was designed to provide an outlet for students for discussion of controversial topics. Mr. Zitto guided the leaders: Ralph Peters, Cabinet member; Nancy Bink, Senior Senator; and Brian McDaniel, Junior Senator. Informal meetings were held on Wednesdays, and on December 13, area high schools met at Milton Hershey to exchange ideas and viewpoints on various problems. The year concluded with a field trip to White Hill to observe the prison rehabilitation there.

youth festival

The 1972 Youth Festival was arranged under the guidance of 24 high school committees. Cedar Cliff's committee, headed by Nancy Bink, spent many hours selling patron tickets, ads to local businesses, and bumper stickers. Cedar Cliff sent three teen talent acts to the Festival this year. These acts were presented along with the honor teen candidates at the Youth Festival Assembly during November. The assembly was chaired by Nancy Hearn and Judy McAllister and gave students all the facts concerning the Festival.

national honor society

The National Honor Society is composed of those Cedar Cliff students who display extraordinary qualities of character, leadership, scholarship, and service. These honor students must have attained a cumulative average of 93% for each of the first three semesters of work and maintain a 90% average following induction in their junior year. Induction ceremonies are presented before the student body in the auditorium. Mr. Paxton and Mr. Palmer are the faculty advisors for the Cedar Cliff Chapter of the Society.

french national honor society

Awarded to those students who excel in French studies is induction into the French National Honor Society. Students must fulfill three qualifications in order to be chosen to join the society. They must have reached the level of French III and attained an average of 93%. Furthermore, a 90% average must be maintained for the remainder of the year. Under the supervision of Mrs. Marks, the society sponsored an orphan through the Christmas Children's Fund and closed the year with a festive meal in French cuisine.

cheerleading club

Cedar Cliff's 1972-73 cheerleaders, advised by Miss Karlheim, have been unique in many ways. At the time of the Agnes Flood, they were stranded at Camp Maple Lake for three days. During that time the girls won five superior ribbons and a spirit stick. They were the first squad at Cedar Cliff ever to spell C-O-L-T-S on their cheerleading tights. Before every football game they decorated the boys' locker room with balloons, pictures, signs, and crepe paper. The cheerleaders prepared and released 500 blue and gold helium balloons at the first football game of the 1972 season.

This year's topic for discussion by the Debate Team was exclusive federal aid for public education. Obtaining information through periodicals and newspapers, the team debated pro and con sides of the resolution with different schools in the Harrisburg Area Debate League. Despite a four month delay because of misinformation as to the topic, the team was primed to participate in various tournaments scheduled by the league. Extensive research and a capable coach made this year's team one of the finest in the league.

key club

Associated with the West Shore Kiwanis Club, Key Club is an active organization interested in the betterment of school and community. It is advised by Mr. Steinhart with assistance from President Doug Killian and Vice President Mike Shenk. A Pancake Jamboree was the major fund raising project which netted sufficient profits for such useful community activities as a Christmas party at a local orphan home. In order to expand their understanding of the club's meaning, several members attended the National Convention for Key Clubs in Washington, D.C., this spring.

The Cedar Cliff Junior Jaycees is the only chapter of its kind in the state of Pennsylvania. This club, with Mr. Bruce Smith and Mr. James Burtnett as advisors, has as its major goal service to Cedar Cliff. Past accomplishments have been construction of the outdoor bulletin board and the baseball scoreboard. This year the 27 member club watched numerous football films and rebuilt their treasury. Painting the back of the outdoor bulletin board and cleaning its brickwork rounded out this year's projects.

psychology club

One of the school's newest organizations, the Psychology Club, is headed by Mr. Nemes. The goal of this club is to enable its members to better understand people in general, and to help themselves to succeed in life. The club spends much time analyzing the outward appearances and problems of all levels of society. Excursions to Washington to explore the Medical Museum and to the White Hill Correctional Institution were a part of the club's activities in its first year of existence.

The Campus Life Club, an outgrowth of the Christian faith, provided its members with an opportunity to share in a group experience. The members discussed the Bible and answered poignant questions about its meaning. Mr. Paxton and Mr. Sale were faculty advisors and Alfred Madeira served as president for the club. Mr. Jim Harris, director of the Harrisburg Youth For Christ program, helped with the completion of the Y.F.C. Building where members went on Saturday nights for films, speakers, and sports.

Bringing Exchange Students Together was formed this year with the purpose of bettering the relationship between exchange students and the student body. Members consisted of those students sincerely interested in improving the foreign exchange program at Cedar Cliff. By sponsoring several bake sales and a dance, the club raised money to aid those students who will be spending the summer abroad. In May the club hosted a statewide foreign exchange day at the William Penn Museum which brought together exchange students from all over the state.

junior classical league

The purpose of the Junior Classical League is to familiarize students with the customs of the ancient Greeks and Romans. With the aid of Mrs. Klaiber and the officers: Scott Drackley, Betsy Prough, Debbie Shields, and Kathy Clark; the club spent time planning for the gala Roman Banquet. In order to raise the money needed, they sold Christmas candles and held both a car wash and bake sale. At the banquet, members donned their togas and had a real Roman feast.

german club

With the motivation of Herr Natschke, Der Deutsche Verein enables German students to engage in many projects concerned with various aspects of German culture. Always on the go, this highly organized club participated in many enriching functions this year. A bake sale and a movie financed the annual trip to Washington and the German Embassy. At Christmas time, members decorated the lobby with a festive tree, and sang carols at Fort Hunter. To celebrate the end of a successful year, the members staged a German banquet in the spring.

spanish club

The Spanish Club, advised by Mrs. Dobbs and Mrs. Kellar, and led by President Cheryl Rosenbery, supplemented classroom studies by learning more about Spanish customs, history, and language. This was accomplished through the use of guest speakers and slide presentations! Activities this year included a field trip in the spring, the annual Christmas party, and a candy bar sale as a money-maker. In between planning and instruction, members found time to work out crossword puzzles—in Spanish, of course!

softball club

With the start of a new year, the girls' softball club busily began raising money to supply the team with new uniforms and shoes. Mr. Howell served as advisor for the girls, with assistance from Juanita Wehler and Jo Linderer, president and vice-president. Keeping their funds in order was Cindee Wolf, club treasurer. The purpose of the club is to prepare those girls going out for the interscholastic softball team in the spring.

gymnastics club

The Gymnastics Club is designed to provide time and assistance to those who enjoy gymnastics, as well as those who compete interscholastically.Coached by Mrs. Burtnett, Mrs. Krout, and Miss Straw, many members competed in the Tri-County Championship in January. The competition was held over two successive weekends at Central Dauphin and Cumberland Valley. Members performed on the mats, parallel and uneven bars, horse, rings, high bar, and balance beam. During club periods, they worked on difficult stunts or practiced their routines for competition.

tennis club

The Tennis Club is made up of hearty souls who "brave the elements" only to become frustrated because of bad form. The members were aided with their strokes and the fundamentals of the game by Dick Shipp, an area pro. Virginia Oldham, the girls' team coach, advised the club in its first year. Additional aids such as films of past tournaments and special reports were utilized to teach the basics of tennis. The club highlighted the year with a trip to the Philadelphia Spectrum to see the pros in action.

creative stitchery

Making more use of the facilities in the Home Economics Department was the goal of Creative Stitchery Club. The Club was formed this year to provide interested girls with the time to work on various individual projects that they couldn't do out of school. Sewing and stitching are examples of the types of projects created by the fifteen girls enrolled in the club. Both Mrs. Reese and Mrs. McConnell provided individual instructions and assistance when needed.

ski club

Ski Club is a part of an interscholastic ski organization whose purpose is to unite skiers from area schools for trips to various mountain resorts. Unseasonal weather prevented them from making too many trips this year, but they did manage to schedule one to Seven Springs. To raise funds, the club scheduled placemat, Christmas card, and doughnut sales throughout the year. Every Monday night a racing team went up to Roundtop to compete against other area schools.

medical careers

Members of the Medical Careers Club are those girls who plan to continue their education in the medical field. Sponsored by the school nurse, Mrs. Devenney, the club attempts to provide interested students with insight into the aspects of various medical professions. Explanations of the various fields and opportunities are made available through varied programs, including speakers from local hospitals. The club held several bake sales during the year to finance a trip to Washington, D.C., where they toured a hospital.

The Electronics Club, under the skillful supervision of Mr. Rogowicz, was designed to increase students' interest and understanding of the electronics field. Working on individual projects, members learned to design, construct, and repair electronic equipment. The club gained additional information from guest speakers from local businesses and industries. Field trips and interesting films aided club members in their technical work and familiarized them with occupational opportunities in many areas related to the field of electronics.

arts and crafts

The Arts and Crafts Club, in its first year at Cedar Cliff, was inspired and directed by Mrs. Carol N. Diffenderfer. Meeting weekly in the wood shop, the fourteen girl members experimented in various creative fields, such as macrame, wood working, monkiri, metal and paper mache sculpture, and leather carving. They learned to handle different types of materials and then worked on individual and group projects applying these new techniques. With continued enthusiasm and leadership, Arts and Crafts is sure to become a permanent activity at Cedar Cliff.

Cedar Cliff has its own D.J., Mr. Repetz, who is the advisor of the Radio and T.V. Club. He heads a group of students who are interested in the production and sound casting aspects of radio and television. The students visited places like WHP in Harrisburg, and WIOO in Carlisle. Many of the members applied for their third class operator's license, hoping to work in a station in the near future. While in class, the students work with video tape cameras and tape recorders, and receive constructive criticism from Mr. Repetz.

angling and conservation

The objectives of the Angling and Conservation Club are to promote good sportsmanship and conservation in the outdoors. Under the guidance of Mr. Abram, the club acquaints its members with the enjoyment of angling and gives helpful hints in improving techniques by introducing changing trends and equipment. The club also informs its members with fishing and game laws and forest conservation material. Through field trips, lectures, and class projects, club members learn to use and respect our natural environment.

chemistry club

Chemistry Club's eight members researched experiments for use in summer enrichment courses, made movies for Chem. I classes, and conducted demonstrations for junior high classes. They also tutored failing Chemistry students and assisted during lab periods. Secretary Teri Grundon kept track of activities and records, and Mr. Graham provided guidance in case of difficulties. The club conducted a field trip to AMP laboratories and helped with research there. Through their concerted activities, members prepared for futures in medical and research careers.

icthyology club

The Icthyology Club was created last year for the purpose of familiarizing interested students with the techniques of aquarium maintenance, fish identification, breeding habits, and the treatment of aquatic diseases. Each member was required to keep his own fish, and each learned effective techniques through active involvement in individual projects. Under Mr. Fox, the club began the year with a fund raising project to supply the members with more tanks and fish for breeding purposes. Their enjoyment and interest in the aquarium community was enhanced through club activities.

business club

The Business Club aimed to afford its members a knowledge of the business community through related activities. Advisor Mrs. Ruth Roadarmel headed the club which consisted of twenty members this year. As a service project, they made a trip to Claremont Farms Cumberland County Home with Christmas gifts. Various activities completed this year included tours to local businesses, H.A.C.C., and business colleges, plus surveys of local businesses and recent business graduates. A variety of films were viewed, and foreign students and guest speakers related business customs in their respective countries.

computer club

The Computer Club is a group of active students interested in computer programming. The members are required to be taking or to have taken the computer course offered at Cedar Cliff. With assistance from Mr. Kostukovich and Mr. Stoner, the members do their homework, play games, and write up their own problems and programs. The machine used is the small but efficient PDP 8/L computer, equipped with two teletype machines and the use of three different computer languages.

central treasury

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Robert Deck, Nancie Sauer, Theresa Apa, and Diane Bruner worked diligently to see that club finances, class treasuries, and budgets were kept in superior order. These three business majors were also in charge of receiving the money, depositing it in the bank, and writing the checks. The three future secretaries also prepared a balance sheet once a month and presented it to the school administration, the bank, and the individual clubs. Through their efforts, all records were kept in full agreement.

pep club

Reinforcing school spirit at Cedar Cliff were the thirty energetic members of the Pep Club. Their duties included baking cupcakes for the teams, promoting school spirit through the sale of C.C. license plates and T-shirts, and painting signs for athletic events. With the assistance of Miss Krasnicki and Mrs. Munyon, they sponsored buses to away games, matches, and meets in every season. Backing up our teams all year round, the Pep Club helped to instill spirit and vivacity in the student body.

51 club

Receiving little recognition is a trademark of one of the most important organizations here at Cedar Cliff, the faithful 51 Club. With Mr. Bennie as their advisor, members manned concession stands and peddled athletic programs at all home football games. Refreshments were also provided for spectators by the club at all home wrestling matches and basketball games. As a reward for all their diligent service throughout the school year, the club members were taken on a field trip in the spring.

library club

A member of the Library Club can be seen each period stamping books behind the check-out desk. In addition to this duty, committees of the club are also in charge of displays, book shelving, and catalog filing. Members are required to give service at least one period a week in the library. President Beth Seely presides over club periods, and Mrs. Morton advises. Over the summer, the club hopes to send at least two of its members to a workshop at Kutztown.

thespians

"Act well your part; there all the honor lies" sums up the objectives of the Cedar Cliff Thespians. Thespians is an honor dramatics group of talented students, experienced in the theater. Under the direction of faculty advisor Mrs. Lillian Juditz and President Brian Stoppe, the club meets weekly to learn about all aspects of the theater, both as cast and crew members. Thespian activities included a trip to see the professional play "Grease" in New York, Repertory Theater, and many special programs during the year.

stage crew

For everything that happens onstage, there is a stage crew member working diligently backstage. This group contributed to every theatrical production at Cedar Cliff this year. Constructing, painting, and moving sets for "The Crucible" and other plays was the wood crew. The lighting crew added their touch by designing and setting the lights, plus providing sound effects. With the advice of Mr. Rogowicz and Mr. Fred Smith, this little-recognized organization performed an essential role in Cedar Cliff's theatrics.

apprentice drama

The main objective of the Apprentice Drama Club was to teach students the skills of every type of stage work. This prepared club members with the ability to take over any directing or backstage work in case of an emergency. Each member was given the opportunity to try his luck at acting, directing, and serving on accessory committees. With the help of Mr. Hawley, the club presented the annual Christmas play, "The Town That Couldn't Have Christmas."

choir

The Christmas concert and the operetta were the highlights of the choir's activities this year. Under the leadership of Mr. L. P. Williams, the choir practiced weekly to insure the success of their performances. The annual Christmas Concert was presented on December 18. The choir also traveled to the Capitol to participate in tree-lighting ceremonies. "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" was this year's operetta. Endless hours of practice, including dancing on Saturdays, were devoted to the production of this musical comedy.

stage band

The Cedar Cliff Jazz Lab Band, directed by Mr. Greg Smee with Mr. Steve Spiese as assistant director, gave listeners a greater appreciation of jazz as it is today. Clad in new uniforms, they traveled to Lancaster and performed for the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association Competition. Along with various state and local competitions, the group played as the honor band at Hanover. The highlight of the year came when the guest trumpet solist, Clark Terry, was featured in the lab band's annual concert.

The Orchestra is an integral part of Cedar Cliff's music department. Directed by Mr. Hostetler, the Orchestra performs not only classical, but rock and popular music. The forty member group is composed of string, wind, brass, and percussion instruments. Rehearsing both during school and in the evening, the Orchestra was active all year. They played three junior high school assemblies, two Christmas concerts, and the Spring Concert here at Cedar Cliff.

Happy to help you.

When you get right down to it, all commercial banks offer pretty much the same services. Savings accounts, checking accounts, various kinds of loans and so forth.

So let's be honest. Is there a reason for you to bank at Commonwealth? Do we really have a competitive edge? We think we do.
It's contained in the headline at the top of the message. We really are "Happy to help you."

At each of the 30 offices of Commonwealth National Bank, you really will find people who take just a little more care . . . people who give just a little more thought to their jobs . . . people who smile just a little bit more spontaneously and who work just a little bit harder for you.

Nor is this an accident. We planned it that way. We take great pains in our hiring, making sure we get people who like people. Then we train them —intensely—in the hundreds of little ways which make a customer's visit a little bit more pleasurable. Frequently, too, we reward them for doing precisely that.

"Happy to help you" is our bank's slogan.

It may not be the world's most glamorous slogan. But it does have one very simple, potent virtue.

It is true.
Come and see.

Any Way It's Labeled

Your Cleaner does it best!

Cedar Cliff junior Brian Rabena shows how Menger's takes good care of your clothes.

Whatever the label says isn't necessarily the only way a garment may be cleaned, or the best.

Did you know that drycleaning can keep your clothes looking newer . . . longer? Even those labeled "machine washable" or "permanent press"? Drycleaning puts back in the sizing that washing removes, restoring that like-new feeling.

For the best in fabric care, trust your cleaner . . . he's a professional fabric care expert. He knows how to make your clothes look best . . . feel best . . . and last longer.

Professional clothing care is our business. Make it your business to see us for the best in clothing care.
